Technical skills and competences - Organization and development of a modern clinical facility, at European standards (2006-2007) bringing together all restorative disciplines
The structure is modular, based on a system of units which provides an extra comfort to the patient and efficiency to the didactic process; each cell is equipped with dental units and computer. The educational facility is equipped at a European standard, with computerized systems for image acquisition and processing, which contributes to the realization of an efficient database and of competitive therapies, providing the necessary infrastructure for a didactic and research activity at a European level, bringing together biomaterials, biotechnologies and biomechanics studies and the practical impact of clinical dental aspects. Of a similar importance is the computerized transmission of the image, associated with modern simulation techniques which precede practical interventions and lead to a highly academic didactic process. On the computer in each cell one can access the ProDent software, which is an original software focused on the particularities of each clinical entity, bringing together both the necessary data for the observation sheet and the 3D simulation elements specific to each particular case, with a deep impact on the educational process and in the field of medical assistance.

Computer skills and competences Computer competence. The elaboration of an original observation sheet for each particular dental entity.

 - The creation of the Discipline of Maxillofacial Prostheses within the Faculty of Dental Medicine and thus, the creation of a center within the research grant „Alternative plastic intervention – epithesis in the oromaxillofacial field”, one of a kind in Moldova, thus creating the first epitheses, the patients in the maxillofacial surgery benefitting from such prostheses, eliminating the mutilation effect.
 - The introduction in the Romanian medical education of the concept of periointegration, a complex concept which provides substance to implanto-prosthetic solutions, based on fundamental research regarding the deposition of hydroxiapatite on the implant surface, a research trajectory to be found within National CNCISIS grants and in a European project on this theme shall be submitted inside the competition in October.
 - Starting from the correlation between theoretical training – practical applicability, with special connotations for the triad dentist – technician – medical nurse, I implemented for the first time this integrative concept in the curriculum of the Faculty of Dental medicine, Iasi and for the first time in Romania, aspects which lead to a competitive dental assisting activity, in line with the requirements promoted by the European Union. This triad concept is also found in the structure of the analytical programs, creating a harmonious integration of the notions. In the educational programs for 2008-2009 we introduced, for the first time in Iasi and Romania, a series of courses in full agreement with the European program, leading to a competitive training of the dental technician, in agreement with the current dental medicine requirements.
 - Maxillofacial prosthesis and technology of epitheses
 - Technology of epitheses through various fixation devices
 - Dento-Stomato-Facial Esthetic
 - O.M.F. Surgery and technology of surgical instruments
 - Technology of orthodontic instruments
- In addition, the optional courses introduced and delivered within the Faculty of Dental medicine constitute modalities of approach of avant-garde themes and fields from the dental practice, in full agreement with the requirements governing the world dental medicine:
- Non-invasive diagnosis methods in dental medicine.
 - Clinical implications of nanotechnologies and materials in the therapy of partial edentation
 - Attachments and telescoping in EPI
 - Diagnosis and treatment means in alternative dental medicine.
 - Non-invasive treatment methods and means (laser therapies) in EPI rehabilitation
- Introduction of the concept of Minimally invasive diagnosis and therapy, of the computerized thermography type or alternative treatment methods (laser) in the students' curriculum, within master's studies.
 - The introduction for the first time on the national level of the population screening with regard to the oral status in agreement with the general condition, in view of instituting a national prophylactic program for adults.
 - The existence of 5 invention patents in the field of oral implantology, aiming at the sterilization and disinfection of the instruments used in dental medicine.
